

References

Ayer, E. H., Heck, A., & Waterford, H. (2000). Parallel Journeys. New York: Aladdin.

This book tells about the lives of two people who grew up in Germany during the Holocaust, a Jew and a Nazi Youth.

Behavior, s. (n.d.). Linking history to moral choices today | Facing History and

Ourselves. Linking history to moral choices today | Facing History and Ourselves. Retrieved July 29, 2010, from <http://facinghistory.org>

Website that is a wealth of information for all teachers who want to teach history or human rights.

Bowler, E. (1994). Prentice Hall Literature Platinum (Teacher ed.). Toronto: Pearson Prentice Hall.

The Diary of Anne Frank is a drama that adds depth to the study of the holocaust.

Deedy, C. A. (2000). The Yellow Star: The Legend of King Christian X of Denmark (1st ed ed.). Atlanta: Peachtree Publishers.

Endearing book that shows how when people are willing to stand up together then good things can happen.

First Person Podcast Series. (n.d.). United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. Retrieved July 29, 2010, from

<http://www.ushmm.org/museum/publicprograms/programs/firstperson/podcast/>

Podcast of survivor stories.

Friedman, V. (Director). (2004). For Every Person There Is A Name [Documentary].

USA: College of Charleston's Office of Media and Technology.

Three survivors tell their stories in a riveting first person account of the holocaust.

Fest, J. (Director). (1991). Heil Hitler! Confessions of a Hitler Youth [Documentary].

USA: HBO.

Documentary starring Alfons Heck telling about his life in the Nazi youth.

Kirchheimer, J. R. (2007). How to Spot One of Us (1 ed.). New York: Clal..

A book of poetry that tells the story of the effects of the holocaust through the eyes of the survivors.

Strom, M. S. (1994). Facing History and Ourselves : Holocaust and Human Behavior.

null: Facing History & Ourselves Natl.

A resource book that leads us through the history of the holocaust in an interesting and insightful way.

Weitz, S. S. (1992). I PROMISED I WOULD TELL: FACING HISTORY AND

OURSELVES (1993 Printing ed.). null: Facing History And Ourselves.

A survivors account of what happened to her and her family during the holocaust.

APA formatting by BibMe.org.